

Recruitment Strategies for Adult Learners

By: Dr. Wade Oliver, Senior Director of Adult Learner Support Initiatives

The Adult Learner Support Initiatives team collaborates with university departments responsible for leading recruitment and orientation activities for adult learners. The team provides support and assistance during adult learner recruitment open houses and ancillary workshops and meetings during orientation. During the 2023-2024 academic year, the team partnered with recruitment personnel to establish a presence at the Amazon Career Choice School Fair held at the Amazon Fulfillment Center in Salt Lake City on March 20, 2024.

The Director of Admissions has recently commenced discussions with the Adult Learner Support Initiatives team and key university executives concerning the expansion of recruitment efforts targeting adult learners. These discussions have been informed by consultations with EAB, a consulting firm specializing in education institutions. Although there are budgetary constraints affecting the extent of these efforts, ongoing discussions are underway.

Presently, the Adult Learner Support Initiatives team is actively marketing to former UVU students regarding the five different academic departments where faculty have championed credit for prior learning opportunities:

- Computer Science Department
- Digital Media Department
- Emergency Services Department
- Strategic Management and Operations Department
- Technology Management Department

The aim of these marketing efforts is to inform students about the potential opportunity to receive credit for any prior learning acquired during their time away from the university. These efforts may encourage previous students to return to UVU and continue their studies towards completing a degree.

Adult Learner Initiative: Give them credit with CPL

In the ever-evolving landscape of higher education, universities are constantly seeking innovative ways to attract and retain students.

January 22, 2024 By Hillary Hunt

In the ever-evolving landscape of higher education, universities are constantly seeking innovative ways to attract and retain students. One promising avenue is the implementation of Credit for Prior Learning (CPL), designed to re-engage students who have ventured into the academic realm but have yet to complete their degrees. Encouraging various departments to embrace CPL opens doors for adult learners so they can advance in their careers and their academic journey.

As part of the Adult Learner Initiative, the CPL team at UVU is providing faculty support for Prior Learning Assessment (PLA) development and collaborating to enhance CPL offerings. The CPL team will assess existing resources, identify gaps, and work to brainstorm solutions for program improvement. Additionally, the CPL team can tap into marketing resources to aid departments in creating targeted campaigns.

Dubbed the CPL Champions, five UVU departments have successfully integrated CPL into their programs and are here to share how they make CPL work for them and why it's so beneficial to their students.

CPL Champion: Technology Management

"Our department has many adult learners inquiring about CPL," says Susan Thackeray, Technology Management Department Chair. "They come to us with a wealth of knowledge and experience that needs to be recognized. That's why we have developed several CPL opportunities and are always creating more."

Thackeray emphasizes that students who are empowered to earn CPL credit are focused and complete their degrees earlier than others. "We are looking forward to partnering with the Adult Learners Initiative team to support our department with improved services and offerings for students."

CPL Champion: Strategic Management and Operations

When talking to potential students already working in their industry, Lynn Adams, Department Chair of Strategic Management and Operations, is the first to bring up CPL. "Show me your work experience, the products you've worked on, the positions you've held, and all the certificates you have earned. Then, we'll look at potential classes you can test out of or you demonstrate competency by what you've submitted to our subject matter experts for a portfolio review. We can award you credit via the CPL process by tying your experience to specific classes."

Highlighting the need for curriculum to adapt to an increasingly standardized and credentialed world, Adams points to UVU's partnership with Pluralsight as one example of how departments can offer CPL. He explains that using Pluralsight, adult learners can brush up on skills before taking a Pluralsight assessment in a proctored environment to earn credit towards their Strategic Management and Operations coursework.

CPL Champion: Information Management

Cynthia Krebs, Professor of Information Systems and Technology, says, "The Information Management degree is ideal for individuals in business or industry that would like to gain further knowledge. We acknowledge the experience that someone already has by awarding credit through Microsoft Office Specialist certifications offered by Certiport."

In short, students already savvy in Word, PowerPoint, Excel, and other software programs can turn their experience into Information Management credit, saving them time and money.

CPL Champion: Emergency Services

The Emergency Services Department at UVU welcomes all students, especially those with professional experience in Emergency Services and Public Safety or who have served in the military," says Kevin McCarthy, Director of EMS Programs. "Students with any of these backgrounds will likely earn credit for several of our courses due to our process for recognizing their training and certifications through our CPL review process."

CPL Champion: Digital Media

"I am excited to partner with the Adult Learners Initiative group on CPL because many people already have the digital media skill set," says Kim P. Brown, Associate Professor of Digital Media. Brown says that prior experience in digital media can move adult students ahead in completing a degree in Animation and Gaming, Digital Audio Production, Digital Cinema Production, and Web Design and Web Development.

When students inquire about CPL in Digital Media, their portfolios are assessed, and their work experience is matched to the appropriate degree in the field. "Students who bring CPL with them into our programs enhance the classrooms with valuable work experience," says Brown. "It is a perfect combination for growth in both a new student and an experienced adult learner."

Career Choice School Fair

We're excited to share that your school has been invited to attend an in-person Career Choice School Fair!

From all of us at Career Choice, we thank you for your continued partnership in empowering Amazon employees to learn new skills for career success. For 2024, we are working hard to connect you with potential Career Choice students at select Fulfillment Centers (FCs) to share information about your school and the Career Choice programs you offer.

This year, our School Fairs are organized into two tiers, tailored to accommodate the diverse needs of our partners.

Tier One: Large FCs (1,000+ potential students) that can accommodate national and local providers.

Tier Two: FCs that focus on local providers only.

Save the Date: Career Choices School Fairs are set to run globally from March to October at select Fulfillment Centers (FCs).

Tier One: Will run in March, June, September

Tier Two: Will run in April, May, October

Currently, we are inviting you to Career Choices School Fairs for the month of March at Tier One FCs. Please watch this video about our fair process and refer to the list below of all FCs that plan to host a fair.

1. Go to the state your school is in and consider the FC location and fair time in your planning.
2. If you are able to join, follow the link in the last column to complete your interest form by February 15th.

Should you confirm, your team will be connected with FC staff by February 22nd.

NOTE: Please do not book any travel until logistics are confirmed with the FC staff.

The hosting FC Sponsors will handle:

1. Confirmation of details required from Schools Representatives (name, email, month and day of birth) to access the FC.
2. Coordination of the event prior to its execution.
3. Personalization of Career Choice School Fair Marketing Materials and distribution.
4. Promotion of the event.

Please plan to track any student leads!

To help execute the fair, we will provide you with Career Choice FAQ materials. We will also provide key resources to potential students to prepare them to ask the right questions to see if your school is a good match for their educational goals. Please plan to only discuss your school's approved Career Choice programs.

Career Choice works with FC Sponsors to schedule these fairs. Once these fairs are over, your communication with Amazon regarding Career Choice matters should only be with the central Career Choice team and not with contacts at any individual FC. The central Career Choice team will initiate communication with you about any other upcoming opportunities to attend a school fair.
