Course Assignments, Assessments, and Grading Policy

- Skill: Level I develops technical ability and awareness of movement principles. Students will be graded on their progress and growth in regard to the following: the ability to pick up and remember movement material, differentiation of rhythmic phrasing, an embodied understanding of neuromuscular patterning, attention to alignment and core support, increased spatial awareness, qualitative changes in movement, and the ability to implement feedback. Active participation, consistent attendance, and incorporation of peer and instructor feedback will facilitate improvement and success. (60% of overall grade)
- Participation: All course concepts are presented through various modes such as demonstration, repetition, description, discussion, consensual touch, journaling, writings etc. Students are required to participate to their full ability. Physical exploration including improvisation and composition, critical observation, and verbal participation are the primary means of learning. Integration and embodiment of lessons and corrections develop artistry. (25% of overall grade)
- Concert Attendance: Attending live dance performances can deepen our understanding of artistry while simultaneously demonstrating support for the artform and extending our professional networks. (5% of overall grade)
- Midterm: At the midterm time, the student and instructor(s) will assess technical and artistic progress in the class. Specific details and requirements regarding video days, self-reflections, and conferences, if applicable, for the assessment will be discussed. (5% of overall grade)
- Final: At the final time, the student and instructor(s) will assess technical and artistic progress in the class. Specific details and requirements regarding video days, self-reflections, and conferences, if applicable, for the assessment will be discussed. (5% of overall grade)

Generative AI

AI programs are not a replacement for your human creativity, originality, and critical thinking. Writing, thinking, and researching are crafts that you must develop over time to develop your own individual voice. At the same time, you should learn how to use AI and in what instances AI can be helpful to you.

The use of generative AI tools (e.g. ChatGPT, Google Bard, etc.) is permitted in this course for the following activities:

- Brainstorming and refining your ideas;
- Fine tuning your research questions;
- Finding information on your topic;
- Drafting an outline to organize your thoughts; and
- Checking grammar and style.

The use of generative AI tools is not permitted in this course for the following activities:

- Impersonating you in classroom contexts, such as by using the tool to compose discussion board prompts/responses assigned to you or content that you put into a Teams/Canvas chat.
- Completing group work that your group has assigned to you, unless it is mutually agreed upon that you may utilize the tool.
- Writing a draft of a writing assignment.
- Writing entire sentences, paragraphs or papers to complete class assignments.

You are responsible for the information you submit based on an AI query (for instance, that it does not violate intellectual property laws, or contain misinformation or unethical content). Your use of AI tools must be properly documented and cited in order to stay within university policies on academic honesty.

Any student work submitted using AI tools should clearly indicate what work is the student's work and what part is generated by the AI. In such cases, no more than 25% of the student work should be generated by AI. If any part of this is confusing or uncertain, please reach out to your instructor for a conversation before submitting your work.

Using Remote Testing Software

This course does not use remote testing software.

This course uses remote testing software. Remote test-takers may choose their remote testing locations. Please note, however, that the testing software used for this may conduct a brief scan of remote test-takers' immediate surroundings, may require use of a webcam while taking an exam, may require the microphone be on while taking an exam, or may require other practices to confirm academic honesty. Test-takers therefore shall have no expectation of privacy in their test-taking location during, or immediately preceding, remote testing. If a student strongly objects to using test-taking software, the student should contact the instructor at the beginning of the semester to determine whether alternative testing arrangements are feasible.
