

Marriage & Relationship Skills (Online)

For additional course information, including prerequisites, corequisites, and course fees, please refer to the Catalog: https://catalog.uvu.edu/

Semester: Spring Year: 2025

Course Prefix: FAMS 1150 Course and Section #: X03

Course Description

This course comprises recent and relevant research on factors and issues related to relationship success and outcomes including whom and when to partner/marry and how to build stable and happy romantic relationships over time. The course materials utilize research and empirically-based practices to resolve specific relationship challenges. The course also stresses increased understanding of desirable relationship outcomes and how to achieve them.

Course Attributes

This course has	the	following	attributes:
-----------------	-----	-----------	-------------

- ☐ General Education Requirements
- ☐ Global/Intercultural Graduation Requirements
- ☐ Writing Enriched Graduation Requirements
- ☐ Discipline Core Requirements in Program
- ☐ Elective Core Requirements in Program
- ☐ Open Elective

Other: Click here to enter text.

Instructor Information

Instructor Name: Brandon K. Burr, PhD, CFLE

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course students should be able to:

- 1. Understand the empirical evidence and importance of becoming emotionally and psychologically healthy before and during romantic relationships.
- 2. Become familiar with the dynamics of family background, gender, singlehood, sex, friendship, attraction, dating, and mate selection and how they influence and relate to romantic relationships.
- 3. Understand and conceptualize the qualities of a successful romantic relationship.
- 4. Become familiar with the marital relationship over the life cycle.
- 5. Understand and gain skills in communication and conflict resolution within romantic relationships.

Course Materials and Texts

Markman, H. J., Stanley, S. M., Rhoads, G. K., & Levine, J. R. (2024). Fighting for your marriage: Positive steps for preventing divorce and building a lasting love (4th Ed.). San Francisco, CA: Jossey-Bass.

Van Epp, J. (2007). How to avoid falling in love with a jerk. New York, NY: McGraw-Hill. (Please note, this book is dated. However, the principles are sound and still apply to today's dating environment. I will include supplemental content that is more updated.)

Course Requirements

Course Assignments, Assessments, and Grading Policy

Knowledge Assessments

This course and its assignments are experiential in nature. Therefore, students who learn and enjoy the class the most are those who watch the recorded lectures, complete assigned readings, and put their full efforts into the assignments.

Each assignment has a purpose and a desired outcome upon completion. You will turn in all assignments via Canvas. It is important that you complete assignments well in advance because Canvas can be temperamental. Failing to turn the assignment on the designated due date and by the designated time will likely result in a zero on the assignment.

For all of the assignments, doing the absolute minimum requirements might not be enough for full points. Achieving full points for each assignment is awarded to those students who can show that they went "above and beyond" what was expected of them and who displayed significant understanding of the content and how it applies to the assignment.

Below is a list and description of each assignment for this course:

- 1. Preparation Quizzes: There will be approximately 30 quizzes administered on Canvas. The quizzes will be open-book and contain multiple-choice, fill-in-the-blank, and True/False options.
- 2. Experiential and Application Journal Entires (5 Points). Part of your learning in this course is to be mindful of your experience as you engage in assignments, readings, and lectures. Throughout the semester and for each module, you will be expected to record your thoughts, insights, and experiences as you read your textbooks, take part in the lectures, and complete assignments. You will also write about how your new knowledge applies to your and/or other individuals in your life. You are expected to write at least 250 words but no more than 500 words for each experiential and application journal entry make sure to comment on the readings, lectures, and assignments. Remember, this is not a detailed explaination of the lectures and readings.
- 3. Final Exam: The final exam will be comprehensive and will cover what you have learned throughout the semester. The exam will be worth 50 points. More details will be given throughout the semester and during the last week of the semester.
- 4. Personal Reflection Assignments (PRA): There will be three personal reflection assignments dispersed throughout the semester. All writing assignments should be typed in 12-point font, double-spaced with 1-inch margins and in Times New Roman font. For this PRA there will be three steps. As you write the paper, please break them up into paragraphs and title each section. You do not need a title page, date, or course number.
- a. PRA #1—Healthy Me Assessment (60 points): Please see the assignment description on Canvas.

- b. PRA #2—Dealbreakers or Expectations (30 points): Please see the assignment description on Canvas.
- c. PRA #3—My Sexual Script* (20 points): Please see the assignment description on Canvas.
- 5. Marriage and Relationship Interview Assignment (MRIA) (35 points each for #1-4; 45 points for #5):
- a. One of the best ways to learn about relationships is to learn from those who are currently in relationships or are seeking to have one. Therefore, you will be asked to conduct several interviews throughout the semester—single individuals, dating or engaged couples, newlywed couples, short-term married couples, and long-term married couples. Please see the assignment description on Canvas.

Student Responsibility/Likelihood of Success

If a student needs clarification on any course assignment, then it is his/her responsibility to request clarification from the instructor. To increase the likelihood of successful performance on any course assignment, the student is strongly encouraged to attend class, take notes and read assigned materials.

Required or Recommended Reading Assignments

Markman, H. J., Stanley, S. M., Rhoads, G. K., & Levine, J. R. (2024). Fighting for your marriage: Positive steps for preventing divorce and building a lasting love (4th Ed.). San Francisco, CA: Jossey-Bass.

Van Epp, J. (2007). How to avoid falling in love with a jerk. New York, NY: McGraw-Hill. (Please note, this book is dated. However, the principles are sound and still apply to today's dating environment. I will include supplemental content that is more updated.)

General Description of the Subject Matter of Each Lecture or Discussion

This course and its assignments are experiential in nature. Therefore, students who learn and enjoy the class the most are those who watch the recorded lectures, complete assigned readings, and put their full efforts into the assignments.

Each assignment has a purpose and a desired outcome upon completion. You will turn in all assignments via Canvas. It is important that you complete assignments well in advance because Canvas can be temperamental. Failing to turn the assignment on the designated due date and by the designated time will likely result in a zero on the assignment.

For all of the assignments, doing the absolute minimum requirements might not be enough for full points. Acheiving full points for each assignment is awarded to those students who can show that they went "above and beyond" what was expected of them and who displayed significant understanding of the content and how it applies to the assignment.

Required Course Syllabus Statements

Generative AI

7. Academic Integrity: Plagiarism and cheating have long been an issue in academia. While instructors can apply filters and barriers to decrease plagiarism and other forms of dishonesty, students have found methods to move through and around those obstacles. We as family science instructors in the program have discussed this issue at length and one principle that has risen to the surface is that the values and attributes of trust, integrity, and honesty are fundamental parts of personal and family relationships. Further, our field is grounded in those principles and without at strict adherence and unified consensus of these values is essential to rigorous field and to healthy and happy families. It is our hope that the students who graduate from UVU and with a degree in Family Science will embrace those shared values of integrity, honesty, and integrity as you work through assignments, continue in your careers, and as you build healthy personal and family relationships.

With all of this said, using other's work to pass it off as your own falls under the category of cheating, plagiarism, and academic dishonesty. we as faculty have agree to institute penalties for violating the course rules around plagiarism. If you are discovered participating in any of the form of academic dishonesty, it will be considered cheating: plagiarism, falsification of information, fabricating information, using unauthorized assistance on tests and other assignments, using unauthorized sources on assignments, substituting other student's work for your own or vice versa, acquiring tests without express permission, copying another person's work, and other behaviors which give you an unfair advantage over other students or which do not reflect your knowledge and performance. Those engaging in any form of cheating, plagiarism, or academic dishonesty will receive a "0" for the assignment involved. Repeat offenders will receive a "0" and "F" for the class. Ongoing cheaters will be referred to the Department Chair or Dean for possible dismissal from school.

Most recently, ChatGPT and other AI (artificial intelligence) has become a growing aid for students. This form of plagiarism also falls under academic dishonesty and will be treated similarly as any other form of cheating. Therefore, using any form of AI, including ChatGPT, will result in a grade reduction or other forms of penalization.

In addition to your own academic integrity, I, as your professor, do all that I can to maintain a sense of fairness throughout my classes. Therefore, asking me to allow extra time on assignments without your situation falling under the exceptions described above, is inappropriate. Further, near the end of the semester, I occasionally have students ask me to make special exceptions for them and all additional leniency or additional extra credit to supplement their grade. Remember, in order for me to maintain some sense of academic integrity, I cannot allow this. Otherwise, I would need to allow this for every student in the class.

Using Remote Testing Software

☐ This course uses remote testing software. Remote test-takers may choose their remote testing locations. Please note, however, that the testing software used for this may conduct a brief scan of remote test-takers' immediate surroundings, may require use of a webcam while taking an exam, may require the microphone be on while taking an exam, or may require other practices to confirm academic honesty. Test-takers therefore shall have no expectation of privacy in their test-taking location during, or immediately preceding, remote testing. If a student strongly objects to using test-taking software, the student should contact the instructor at the beginning of the semester to determine whether alternative

Required University Syllabus Statements

testing arrangements are feasible. Alternatives are not guaranteed.

☑ This course does not use remote testing software.

Accommodations/Students with Disabilities

Students needing accommodations due to a permanent or temporary disability, pregnancy or pregnancy-related conditions may contact UVU Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu or 801-863-8747.

Accessibility Services is located on the Orem Campus in BA 110.

Deaf/Hard of Hearing students requesting ASL interpreters or transcribers can contact Accessibility Services to set up accommodations. Deaf/Hard of Hearing services can be contacted at DHHservices@uvu.edu

DHH is located on the Orem Campus in BA 112.

Academic Integrity

At Utah Valley University, faculty and students operate in an atmosphere of mutual trust. Maintaining an atmosphere of academic integrity allows for free exchange of ideas and enables all members of the community to achieve their highest potential. Our goal is to foster an intellectual atmosphere that produces scholars of integrity and imaginative thought. In all academic work, the ideas and contributions of others must be appropriately acknowledged and UVU students are expected to produce their own original academic work.

Faculty and students share the responsibility of ensuring the honesty and fairness of the intellectual environment at UVU. Students have a responsibility to promote academic integrity at the university by not participating in or facilitating others' participation in any act of academic dishonesty. As members of the academic community, students must become familiar with their rights and responsibilities. In each course, they are responsible for knowing the requirements and restrictions regarding research and writing, assessments, collaborative work, the use of study aids, the appropriateness of assistance, and other issues. Likewise, instructors are responsible to clearly state expectations and model best practices.

Further information on what constitutes academic dishonesty is detailed in UVU Policy 541: Student Code of Conduct.

Equity and Title IX

Utah Valley University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age (40 and over), disability, veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth, or pregnancy-related conditions, citizenship, genetic information, or other basis protected by applicable law, including Title IX and 34 C.F.R. Part 106, in employment, treatment, admission, access to educational programs and activities, or other University benefits or services. Inquiries about nondiscrimination at UVU may be directed to the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights or UVU's Title IX Coordinator at 801-863-7999 – TitleIX@uvu.edu – 800 W University Pkwy, Orem, 84058, Suite BA 203.

Religious Accommodation

UVU values and acknowledges the array of worldviews, faiths, and religions represented in our student body, and as such provides supportive accommodations for students. Religious belief or conscience broadly includes religious, non-religious, theistic, or non-theistic moral or ethical beliefs as well as participation in religious holidays, observances, or activities. Accommodations may include scheduling or due-date modifications or make-up assignments for missed class work.

To seek a religious accommodation, a student must provide written notice to the instructor and the Director of Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu. If the accommodation relates to a scheduling conflict, the notice should include the date, time, and brief description of the difficulty posed by the conflict. Such requests should be made as soon as the student is aware of the prospective scheduling conflict.

While religious expression is welcome throughout campus, UVU also has a specially dedicated space for meditation, prayer, reflection, or other forms of religious expression.