All readings are available on Canvas. My advice is to print the readings whenever possible.

Course Requirements

Course Assignments, Assessments, and Grading Policy

My general rule: no late work, no extensions. If you have a legitimate excuse, contact me and I will see what I can do. If you know that you will be out of town for whatever reason, please plan accordingly.

No laptops, e-readers, phones, or other electronics in class. Students are expected to take notes in a notebook. You're welcome to convert your notes to digital format, but do it outside of class.

GRADING & ASSIGNMENTS

Participation	35%
Journal	20%
Final Exam	25%
Quizzes	20%

PARTICIPATION (35%)

Here is what I mean by participation:

1. Ability to offer fruitful ideas and questions to the group. "Fruitful" does not mean "correct" or even "brilliant" or even "fully developed." The key point is that when you speak, you contribute something pregnant that helps us shape our discussions. This also means that talking a lot isn't automatically a good thing.
2. Ability to really listen to your classmates and to respond to them in a way that actually helps them develop their own ideas. Just saying, "I agree" does not do this. Here I include even basic things like looking at your classmates and using their names when you talk to them. Let's treat each other like full human beings.
3. Be willing to hear other points of view and maybe even change your mind. Philosophy is all about exploring and playing with ideas. Go into discussions humble.

My aim is not to penalize folks who might be pathologically shy. If participation is an issue for you, come talk with me and we'll work it out.

QUIZZES (20%)

Usually, quizzes will take place at the very beginning of class on Friday. All the material needed to pass the quiz will be covered in the reading and lecture. They should only take about 5–10 minutes. Short-answer questions. Be sure to bring pen to write with. If you miss class and, by extension, the quiz, there is no way to make it up.

JOURNAL 20%

You will keep a journal throughout the semester of your notes from class and from reading at home. You'll also be asked to share your journaling every week as a record of your engagement and thought.

You will be graded based on the following points:

- How thoughtful and detailed are your notes?
- Do your questions and comments show that you really did the reading, or are they superficial?
- Are your ideas neatly and coherently organized?

FINAL EXAM (25%)

The final exam will be an in-class, handwritten exam. I will give you more information as we approach the date. Final Exams must be handwritten in official UVU “green books.”

EXAM DATE: MON. 28 April, 1:00–2:50 p.m.

Generative AI

1. ChatGPT and Other Online AI Learning Support Platforms. Artificial intelligence (AI) language models, such as ChatGPT, and online assignment help tools, such as Chegg®, are examples of online learning support platforms: they cannot be used for course assignments except as explicitly authorized by the instructor. The following actions are prohibited in this course:
 - Submitting all or any part of an assignment statement to an online learning support platform;
 - Incorporating any part of an AI generated response in an assignment;
 - Using AI to brainstorm, formulate arguments, or template ideas for assignments;
 - Using AI to summarize or contextualize source materials;
 - Submitting your own work for this class to an online learning support platform for iteration or improvement.
 - Unattributed use of online learning support platforms and unauthorized sharing of instructional property are forms of scholastic dishonesty and will be treated as such.

Please cite any and every source you use in completing an assignment (including all articles, books, websites, etc.). The professor will determine the punishment of any instance of cheating or plagiarism and depending upon the severity of the offense can range from failing the assignment to failing the entire course. Please see me right away if you ever have questions or uncertainties regarding plagiarism.

Using Remote Testing Software

This course does not use remote testing software.

This course uses remote testing software. Remote test-takers may choose their remote testing locations. Please note, however, that the testing software used for this may conduct a brief scan of remote test-takers’ immediate surroundings, may require use of a webcam while taking an exam, may require the microphone be on while taking an exam, or may require other practices to confirm academic honesty. Test-takers therefore shall have no expectation of privacy in their test-taking location during, or immediately preceding, remote testing. If a student strongly objects to using test-taking software, the student should contact the instructor at the beginning of the semester to determine whether alternative testing arrangements are feasible. Alternatives are not guaranteed.

Accommodations/Students with Disabilities

Students needing accommodations due to a permanent or temporary disability, pregnancy or pregnancy-related conditions may contact UVU Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu or 801-863-8747.

Accessibility Services is located on the Orem Campus in BA 110.

Deaf/Hard of Hearing students requesting ASL interpreters or transcribers can contact Accessibility Services to set up accommodations. Deaf/Hard of Hearing services can be contacted at DHHservices@uvu.edu

DHH is located on the Orem Campus in BA 112.

Academic Integrity

At Utah Valley University, faculty and students operate in an atmosphere of mutual trust. Maintaining an atmosphere of academic integrity allows for free exchange of ideas and enables all members of the community to achieve their highest potential. Our goal is to foster an intellectual atmosphere that produces scholars of integrity and imaginative thought. In all academic work, the ideas and contributions of others must be appropriately acknowledged and UVU students are expected to produce their own original academic work.

Faculty and students share the responsibility of ensuring the honesty and fairness of the intellectual environment at UVU. Students have a responsibility to promote academic integrity at the university by not participating in or facilitating others' participation in any act of academic dishonesty. As members of the academic community, students must become familiar with their rights and responsibilities. In each course, they are responsible for knowing the requirements and restrictions regarding research and writing, assessments, collaborative work, the use of study aids, the appropriateness of assistance, and other issues. Likewise, instructors are responsible to clearly state expectations and model best practices.

Further information on what constitutes academic dishonesty is detailed in UVU Policy 541: Student Code of Conduct.

Equity and Title IX

Utah Valley University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age (40 and over), disability, veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth, or pregnancy-related conditions, citizenship, genetic information, or other basis protected by applicable law, including Title IX and 34 C.F.R. Part 106, in employment, treatment, admission, access to educational programs and activities, or other University benefits or services. Inquiries about nondiscrimination at UVU may be directed to the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights or UVU's Title IX Coordinator at 801-863-7999 – TitleIX@uvu.edu – 800 W University Pkwy, Orem, 84058, Suite BA 203.

Religious Accommodation

UVU values and acknowledges the array of worldviews, faiths, and religions represented in our student body, and as such provides supportive accommodations for students. Religious belief or conscience broadly includes religious, non-religious, theistic, or non-theistic moral or ethical beliefs as well as participation in religious holidays, observances, or activities. Accommodations may include scheduling or due-date modifications or make-up assignments for missed class work.

To seek a religious accommodation, a student must provide written notice to the instructor and the Director of Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu. If the accommodation relates to a scheduling conflict, the notice should include the date, time, and brief description of the difficulty posed by the conflict. Such requests should be made as soon as the student is aware of the prospective scheduling conflict.

While religious expression is welcome throughout campus, UVU also has a specially dedicated space for meditation, prayer, reflection, or other forms of religious expression.
