Semester: Spring

Course Prefix: PSY

Course Title: Lifespan Development

Year: 2025

Course and Section #: 1100-X12

Credits: 3

Course Description

Explores genetic and environmental influences on human development and behavior from conception and birth through old age and death. Examines typical physical, cognitive, and psychosocial changes at each developmental stage throughout the life span. Explores major theoretical perspectives on human development.

Course Attributes

This course has the following attributes:

- General Education Requirements
- Global/Intercultural Graduation Requirements
- Writing Enriched Graduation Requirements
- Discipline Core Requirements in Program
- Elective Core Requirements in Program
- Open Elective

Course Assignments, Assessments, and Grading Policy

Assignment	Description
Discussions (50 pts. 10 pts for each question)	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• There will be five discussion questions posted on Canvas throughout the semester. Answer each question due by the due date for full points.• Respond to at least two other student's responses by a week from the due date for the discussion.• Your response to the discussion question is worth up to 6 pts.• Your comments on other students' responses are worth up to 4 points (2 pts. for each comment)
Research Analysis and Research Design Assignment (25 pts.)	This assignment will allow you to get familiar and comfortable with the components of research and journal articles. This has two parts. For the first part, you will be asked to find a research article regarding human development and look at the different parts we learn about in our class. In the second part you will be designing your own research (you will not be conducting it though). This part is to allow you to be more creative and use these components to see what it would be like to make up your own.
Pregnancy and Birth Interview (25 pts)	To help you get a more true-to-life picture of childbirth, I will have you conduct an interview with a mother or partner who has experienced or observed closely the experience of pregnancy and childbirth.
Contexts of Development Paper or Interview (50 pts.)	Discuss how the 3 contexts of development (see below) have affected your physical, cognitive, and psychosocial development. 65 pts. <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Family• Socio-economic status/Neighborhood• Culture/ethnicity. Or Conduct an interview with someone who works with kids, youth, or adults on a professional basis or very closely (such as a parent). See Canvas for more information on this assignment
Term Paper (40 pts total)	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Two (2) term paper prep assignments• Instructions and materials will be posted on Canvas, and submission will occur on Canvas.• Each prep assignment is worth up to 10 points• Prep assignments will contribute up to 20 points toward your final grade• In each prep assignment, you will determine and describe some characteristics about your hypothetical or "virtual" person (such as their gender, presence of genetic defects, etc.)

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> You will also briefly describe how some of these characteristics might affect the person’s development. You will also read, and briefly reply to classmates with thoughts on how their virtual person’s characteristics could affect their development. These prep assignments will provide the framework for your term paper (described below) Note: there will also be an optional 4th term paper prep assignment available on Canvas, worth 4 points of extra credit The due dates for the term paper prep assignments are listed below in the schedule
Term Paper (60 pts total)	Term paper <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Instructions will be posted on Canvas, submission will occur on Canvas Worth up to 100 points Submitted in MS Word format This paper is also referred to as your “Virtual Person Paper” because you will write about the development of a hypothetical, or virtual person 8 to 10 pages (double-spaced, 12-pt. Times New Roman, Ariel or Calibri font, 1-inch margins) Some events or conditions will be randomly assigned to your person, and you must incorporate these effects into the developmental trajectory of your “person.” Your instructor will upload specific instructions to Canvas later in the semester.
Exams (100 pts. Total)	Midterm and Final <ul style="list-style-type: none"> There will be a midterm and Final for the class that will cover what is in the text and PowerPoints The exams will be open book on Canvas but you will have a limited time to complete it so you will want to study for it beforehand. The final will only cover the 2nd half of class (Chapters 11-20) They will each consist of 50 multiple-choice questions

Generative AI

AI has its place in the classroom but it should not be used to replace the creativity, learning and thinking that one can achieve from writing in a class.

The use of generative AI tools (e.g. ChatGPT, Google Bard, etc.) is allowed in this course for the following activities:

- Brainstorming your topic and ideas
- Researching a topic
- Learning more about a topic
- Coming up with an outline
- Grammar checking

The use of generative AI tools is not allowed in this course for the following activities:

- Do not use AI to come up with your Discussion responses. These are intended to be a discussion of YOUR ideas and thoughts, not those created by AI.
- Writing any of the papers or assignments for this class. The term paper is supposed to be a creative endeavor that allows you to apply what is learned in this class. The material for the interview and contexts of development papers come from the interviewee or from your life. The extra credit activities are very personal to you.

- Writing entire sentences, paragraphs or papers to complete any other class assignments.

If you do use AI, it is expected that you will indicate which part is you and which part is AI. No more than 25% of the papers you produce should be generated by AI.

Using Remote Testing Software

This course does not use remote testing software.

This course uses remote testing software. Remote test-takers may choose their remote testing locations. Please note, however, that the testing software used for this may conduct a brief scan of remote test-takers' immediate surroundings, may require use of a webcam while taking an exam, may require the microphone be on while taking an exam, or may require other practices to confirm academic honesty. Test-takers therefore shall have no expectation of privacy in their test-taking location during, or immediately preceding, remote testing. If a student strongly objects to using test-taking software, the student should contact the instructor at the beginning of the semester to determine whether alternative testing arrangements are feasible. Alternatives are not guaranteed.

Accommodations/Students with Disabilities

Students needing accommodations due to a permanent or temporary disability, pregnancy or pregnancy-related conditions may contact UVU Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu or 801-863-8747.

Accessibility Services is located on the Orem Campus in BA 110.

Deaf/Hard of Hearing students requesting ASL interpreters or transcribers can contact Accessibility Services to set up accommodations. Deaf/Hard of Hearing services can be contacted at DHHservices@uvu.edu

DHH is located on the Orem Campus in BA 112.

Academic Integrity

At Utah Valley University, faculty and students operate in an atmosphere of mutual trust. Maintaining an atmosphere of academic integrity allows for free exchange of ideas and enables all members of the community to achieve their highest potential. Our goal is to foster an intellectual atmosphere that produces scholars of integrity and imaginative thought. In all academic work, the ideas and contributions of others must be appropriately acknowledged and UVU students are expected to produce their own original academic work.

Faculty and students share the responsibility of ensuring the honesty and fairness of the intellectual environment at UVU. Students have a responsibility to promote academic integrity at the university by not participating in or facilitating others' participation in any act of academic dishonesty. As members of the academic community, students must become familiar with their rights and responsibilities. In each course, they are responsible for knowing the requirements and restrictions regarding research and writing, assessments, collaborative work, the use of study aids, the appropriateness of assistance, and other issues. Likewise, instructors are responsible to clearly state expectations and model best practices.

Further information on what constitutes academic dishonesty is detailed in UVU Policy 541: Student Code of Conduct.

Equity and Title IX

Utah Valley University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age (40 and over), disability, veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth, or pregnancy-related conditions, citizenship, genetic information, or other basis protected by applicable law, including Title IX and 34 C.F.R. Part 106, in employment, treatment, admission, access to educational programs and activities, or other University benefits or services. Inquiries about nondiscrimination at UVU may be directed to the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights or UVU's Title IX Coordinator at 801-863-7999 – TitleIX@uvu.edu – 800 W University Pkwy, Orem, 84058, Suite BA 203.

Religious Accommodation

UVU values and acknowledges the array of worldviews, faiths, and religions represented in our student body, and as such provides supportive accommodations for students. Religious belief or conscience broadly includes religious, non-religious, theistic, or non-theistic moral or ethical beliefs as well as participation in religious holidays, observances, or activities. Accommodations may include scheduling or due-date modifications or make-up assignments for missed class work.

To seek a religious accommodation, a student must provide written notice to the instructor and the Director of Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu. If the accommodation relates to a scheduling conflict, the notice should include the date, time, and brief description of the difficulty posed by the conflict. Such requests should be made as soon as the student is aware of the prospective scheduling conflict.

While religious expression is welcome throughout campus, UVU also has a specially dedicated space for meditation, prayer, reflection, or other forms of religious expression.
