2011 International Mountain Day Observation

John McClure, Co-President, Utah International Mountain Forum, talks about major results of students activities to promote mountain agenda during 2011 student's

UVU students Contribution to the MP Report for RIO+20

UVU was the only University in North America to involve students in the preparations of this official document, because of the promotion of SMD-agenda on a regional level and the active engagement of students during the Conference “Women of the Mountains” last March.

Students conducted research on seven different ranges in North America, and results of that research were included as an attachment to the document (see appendices).

A report on SMD on North America, prepared for the U.N. Conference on Sustainable Development RIO+20 in Brazil on June 20-22, 2012, contains information about UVU's involvement in those processes.

Sustainable development: sustainable mountain development

Sustainable mountain development

Report of the Secretary-General

Summary

The present report was prepared in response to the General Assembly resolution 66/205, in which the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to report to it at its sixty-eighth session on the status of sustainable development in mountain regions. The report describes the status of sustainable mountain development at the national and international levels, including an overall analysis of the challenges that lie ahead, and provides suggestions for consideration by the Assembly as to how to continue to promote and effectively sustain development in mountain regions around the world within the existing policy context, including chapter 13 of Agenda 21, adopted at the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the Plan of Implementation of the World Summit on Sustainable Development ("Johannesburg Plan of Implementation"), the Millennium Development Goals and the follow-up actions of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development. The report was prepared by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations in collaboration with Governments, relevant agencies of the United Nations system and other organizations.

G. Gender and mountain development

63. The Utah Valley University and the Kyrgyz National Centre for Development of Mountain Regions organized a conference to address issues critical to women and children of mountainous nations. Held in Peru in 2012, the conference focused on mountain communities in the Andean regions of Peru and surrounding countries, continuing the traditions of two previous international conferences organized by the two institutions in Orem, Utah, United State of America in 2007 and 2011.
