

Stefanie Camara Manoel

Stefanie Camara Manoel is dedicated to making a meaningful impact in the field of political science and global politics. Currently pursuing her degree with a focus on Global Politics, Stefanie's academic journey is fueled by a desire to understand the complexities of international relations and contribute to fostering positive change on a global scale. Growing up in a multicultural environment in Seattle, Washington, she developed an early appreciation for diversity, environmentalism, and the interconnectedness of global issues, motivating her to engage in Model United Nations conferences and research projects exploring topics such as international security and sustainable development. Outside of academia, Stefanie is actively involved in promoting cross-cultural understanding and civic engagement through volunteering and advocacy work. With her strong academic background, diverse experiences, and unwavering commitment to social justice, Stefanie aspires to pursue a career in international diplomacy or global advocacy, where she can leverage her skills and passion to contribute to building a more just and equitable world.